

Wang's Latest Bash: Friends and Family

Where Alexander Wang goes, cool girls and guys tend to follow, so Thursday night when he co-hosted a party with Natasha Poly and Victoria Traina for interior designer Ryan Korban, the second floor of the Soho Grand was a veritable casting call for one of his shows.

Models Erin Wasson, Hanne Gaby Odiele, Olga Sherer and Heather Marks mingled with skinny, black clad kids, sipping vodka and dancing on banquettes. "This is chill compared to my after party," laughed Wang as he glanced around.

One of the designer's best friends, Korban has worked on many a celebrity home (Poly's new apartment is one of his future projects) and was celebrating the launch of his namesake Web site. "The interior design world is very stale now. I think it's just kind of sad. I'm trying to breathe life into the industry," explained Korban, adding of his fashion-savvy clients, "I think creating furniture design is as important as the clothes in creating the brand." "Blah, blah, blah," interrupted a teasing Zoe Kravitz dancing nearby.